

RIVERINA HIGHLANDS LANDCARE NETWORK

Frogs for Dinner!

Dr David Hunter, Threatened Species Officer with the NSW Office of Environment and Heritage is the guest speaker for Riverina Highlands Landcare Network's annual winter warmer dinner. The Riverina Highlands is home to a number of unique frog species including the endangered Corroboree Frog and the endangered Booroolong Frog which have been the focus of a research and monitoring program since the mid 90's.

It has been nearly 10 years since Dave last spoke to the Landcare Network about the state of native frogs in our region. During this time, our area has experienced some of the worst drought and flooding regimes in living memory. Many properties within our area have been surveyed by Dave and it will be interesting to hear how these species have survived such variable climatic conditions.

Dave's presentation will provide an update on the Corroboree Frogs recovery program, and how extreme droughts and floods over the past decade have greatly informed his understanding of the Booroolong Frog and the management of its key habitat requirements.

The Riverina Highlands Landcare Network invites you to dinner to come hear Dave explain what the Corroboree Frog and Booroolong Frog have told us about environmental management in the Riverina Highlands.
